The Liguori pasta factory in Gragnano is among the oldest in Italy, its origins dating back to 1795. Today, as then, we preserve a distinctive method, the result of know-how handed down from generation to generation, called the Liguori Method. Gragnano, a town nestled between the mountains and the sea, is a unique place for its soil and climate conditions and for its traditional pasta-making process, unique in the world in terms of history and cultural value.
